“ My son Kevin shared a close friendship with Jaime for many years. I can still picture them playing video games in my living room, as if it were just yesterday. Jaime was always polite and exhibited a deep protectiveness over his younger siblings. He was the type of friend who stood by his buddies without hesitation, and his wonderful sense of humor could light up any room.

Jaime will be missed by so many. He was a radiant presence in this world, and now his spirit will continue to shine brightly from above. I am sure he is watching over his family and friends, just as he always did—devoted and caring.

May God welcome him with open arms and bless his family during this difficult time.
