There are no words glorious enough to capture who Marcella was and is. But I have faith and trust in my Lord who fulfills His promises, that he has donned her with a new life, a new body, and a new joy that surpasses our understanding. She stands with our Lord in a glorious wardrobe. She weeps and sorrows with us. She holds our hands and gently guides us with her to heal in happiness. Thank God that He has given us a blessing that we may say was part of our lives. I love you Marcella and miss you.

“ I sit here just thinking and thinking asking myself why!? We were supposed to leave the hospital together on Monday!!! Thought it would be me you and Angie together but Angie got bored really quick and decided to leave as quick as she arrived. Cant say I blame her. This wasn't supposed to happen! We left so many things undone, so many memories to live, so many places to go! Not a minute of the day goes by where I dont think of you! I feel your presence at the house, hear your voice and laughter and see that beautiful smile. You will live in our memories forever and your grandkids will remember you fondly! Until we meet again sister! Please watch out for us and give us the strength to get through this.
