“ It’s weird being known you’re an actual Angel now instead of being here with us. I’ve been excited for months to come home and visit and go to Louie’s and eat a nice meal with you and mama again💕 but I still have everything in my memories with you and my heart from enjoying the little things to feeling the comfort you always gave to everyone you loved because that’s who you were compassionate, loving, funny and everyone’s best friend if they needed it. I’m gonna miss you all the time until we meet again. I love you and thank you for giving me my nephew, just one of many great things you did. Love, “LaceymaeBalock” yeah I never liked that nickname as much lol but for you I’ll bare it. I love you Veronica

“ From talking just about all day everyday to now cherishing you as a memory is painstakingly hard. Friendship turned familyship. Heaven has surely gained a precious angel. Forever in my heart SISTER
